BUYS PART INTEREST IN PIKEVILLE NEWS

William Grote, editor and publisher of the Vanceburg Sun, has purchased a part interest in the Pike County News, of Pikeville. His son, Charles Grote, according to announcement in the Lewis county paper, will go to Pikeville and take an active part in the business of the paper there. Mr. Grote has not been many years in the editorial profession, although he is a printer of practical experience. He is publishing one of the most interesting sheets in the State in the Sun.

AUTOMOBILES IN THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINS

Recent occurrences in a mountain county when two automobiles were hurled over cliffs into river below, would indicate that there is yet an element of danger to be encountered in negotiating a motor car through the tortuous mountain passes and trails, and that it may be some time before the sure-footed mule is entirely supplanted as a means of transportation in the mountain country.

Notwithstanding the difficulties to be faced the number of machines being used in the mountain counties is constantly increasing and few are without any motor cars. Leslie county not only has no automobile within its borders, but it is said that a machine could not be transported there unless the parts were carried over the mountains and afterward assembled.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST SCOURGE OF DIPHTHERIA

Because the number of deaths from diphtheria in Kentucky has almost doubled in the last three years, and doubled needlessly, according to Dr. A. T. McCormick, State Health Officer, the State Board of Health already is starting a campaign which has as its sole object the lowering of the number of fatalities next winter from this disease.

There were 352 deaths from diphtheria reported in 1919, according to J. F. Blackerby, director of the Board of Health's Bureau of Vital Statistics. The number rose in 1920 to 423 and last year jumped again to 644.

These deaths, Dr. McCormick says, every one could have been prevented if antitoxin in sufficient quantities had been administered early enough in the history of each case.

Steps being taken by the Board of Health now to lower the deaths from diphtheria this winter include the calling to all doctors' attention the fact that the Board has available all the antitoxin needed, emphasizing the necessity of using this antitoxin before the disease has taken too firm a hold on its victim, and advocacy of the use of the Schick test in schools where there has been a case of diphtheria.

THE MARKING OF BILLS

In their surveillance and apprehension of suspected persons, Government secret service officers often find it necessary to "mark the money" handled by such persons. There are various methods of marking national currency, one of the most novel being the pin prick.

The note to be marked is, say, the $5 silver certificate bearing the vignette of an Indian chief in his full regalia of feathers and trappings and presenting a full-face view. With the aid of a pin the secret service man makes two punctures in the bill directly in the pupils of the Indian's eyes. To the casual and sometimes even critical inspector of the note these pin pricks are invisible. If raised to the light, however, the bill will reveal them distinctly.

The markings are complicated by the following process. The pin point is applied in the "twist" of the large figure 5 at the two upper corners of the note. These tiny twists do not appear in the "necks" of the two figure 5s that are at both ends of the bottom of the note. The note is now pierced again, this time in the ends of the scrolls on each side of the word "five" in the lower center of the bill. The marking is now complete. In secret, it is exhibited to one or more persons for identification, and is then placed in the till or money drawer to which the suspected person has access.

It is said that the pin pricks will remain perfect for some time. When such bills are produced in court, and their marking is explained under oath conviction is practically certain.

TALK OF FAIR AT BOONESBORO.

There is talk of a big fair at Boonesboro next year, with a few trotting and running races. Madison, Clark, Fayette, Bourbon and Jessamine and a dozen other counties would send, it is believed, many enthusiasts to a fair at Boonesboro, which has the reputation of being the best inland bathing beach to be found anywhere.

Did Well With Crude Instruments.

Long before the Christian era instruments were made for the measurement of angles on the principle of the subdivision of the circle. Thus the ancient Egyptians laid out their lands on the banks of the fertilizing Nile. The instruments were crude because "the long result of time" had not yet perfected them, but they answered their purpose well enough to enable Eratosthenes, 250 years B. C., to measure the circumference of the round earth.

Pitcairn Island.

Pitcairn Island has an area of about two miles square. The population now is said to be about 220. The natural food resources of the island, chiefly fruits, fishes and wild birds, probably would support a population of five hundred. The island has no intercourse with the outside world, with the exception of an occasional visit from a passing ship.

A BIT OF ADVICE

First — Don't Delay. Second — Don't Experiment

If you suffer from backache, headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Paris residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of a Paris citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

Mrs. J. N. Reynolds, 255 Winchester street, Paris, says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to do me more good than any remedy I have ever used and I recommend them highly. I suffered from rheumatic pains and kidney trouble. I could always tell when the weather was going to change as my limbs became painful. I got dizzy, especially when I first got up in the morning and my kidneys were not acting regularly. I was not long in getting relief after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and feel better in every way after taking them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Reynolds had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEWSPAPERS "RAZZ" EDITOR J. M. ALVERSON

(Richmond Register)
"His country newspaper friends are certainly giving Jesse Alverson the razzberry over changing his Harlan Enterprise to a Republican sheet. Well, what could they expect? It was labeled 'independent' to begin with and most of the so-called 'independent' newspapers as well as voters, are usually Republican at heart, or to suit the exigencies of such a situation as Jesse encountered in Harlan county where there is something like 5,000 Republican majority in elections and a Democratic newspaper would have as much chance as the proverbial snowball in gehenna."

BOURBON TURF MEN MAKE PURCHASE.

The summer thoroughbred auction sales ended at Saratoga, New York, Tuesday night with the completion of the Blue Ridge Farm offerings. The two nights dispersal sales brought a total of $208,000. The top price of the sales was the imported brood mare, Ariette, dam of Letterman, which was sold to R. J. Walden, for $13,000. Bourbon county turfmen made the following purchases:

Imported Nadinette ch m (7) Fitz Herbert-Melody, with br c by King James, Arthur B. Hancock, Paris, $4,500; Imp. Adelinetta, b m, (18) Melton Dainty, Charlton Clay, Paris, $300; Cadeau, b m (12) Golden Maxim-Komuraski with dk b by Superman, Charlton Clay, Paris, $2,000.

PLEASURES OF THE BLIND

Recently stories went the rounds of the State press of a Paducah blind man, a confirmed baseball fan who attends all the games, and of a Mayfield man with sightless orbs that finds his greatest pleasure in attending the picture shows. People bereft of sight have been known to become inveterate racegoers and find as much thrill in the pound of the hoofs of the flying steeds as an actual spectator in watching the horses as they dash under the wire.

There is a popular misapprehension that those who cannot see are devoid of any interest in the pleasures and activities of life, but this is a mistake. In many cases the blind overcome their handicap and enter actively into the various pursuits of life.

A notable instance is that of a prominent lawyer in a Kentucky town. Although bereft of his eyesight in middle age he overcame the handicap with the result that he has not relinquished his place at the head of the bar in his section. Louisville has a Magistrate who has been blind since childhood, yet he conducts his office with marked efficiency and as well as any of his contemporaries with vision. Many business ventures throughout the State are conducted by the blind with little or no assistance from others.

A Kentucky mountain boy who graduated from the State Blind School some years ago, studied for the ministry and now is pastor of one of the largest churches in Oklahoma, the State that for so long was represented in the United States Senate by the blind Senator Gore. Blindness is a terrible affliction but many with the handicap are demonstrating that there are but few avenues not open to the sightless.

The man who says that he is boss at his house is either a liar or a brute.

THE TRI-STATE TOBACCO FAIR.

The spirit of Kentucky hospitality will be present in a literal sense at the Tobacco Fair and Fall Festival, to be held under the auspices of a Greater Cincinnati Committee at the Kenton Tobacco Warehouse, Covington, Ky., October 21 to November 4. The Covington Rotary Club, is arranging to appoint a welcoming committee for each day of the Festival.

A pen with which the Declaration of Independence was signed will be among the many notable exhibits in the historical display at the Festival. The pen was used by Abraham Clark, one of the signers of the Declaration, and was subsequently used by George Washington. Miss Jane Cameron became the owner of it, and it reverted from her to relatives, thus finally coming into the hands of Charles Simpson, of 116 Linden street, Ludlow, Ky., who, in turn, presented it to the John Holland Pen Company. The latter have loaned it to Will H. Myers, managing director of the festival, for the historical display.

Three entries have already been received in the "Who'll Be Queen" Contest. They are: Miss Carrie Abney, 838 North Second street, Hamilton, O.; Miss Hazel Quirk, Hamilton avenue, North College Hill, O., and Miss Jeanette Ward, 916 Clark street, Cincinnati.

Many amusement features are being booked to wake the festival attractive. Among them will be a number of carnival shows and stunts.

TOWN AND COUNTY JEALOUSY

Nothing in Kentucky life has been more noticeable in the last twenty years than the passing of the prejudice that formerly existed between the town and the county residents. Until quite recently these elements were generally at loggerheads and a lasting ill feeling was engendered that was vented on the slightest provocation.

Now a better feeling exists between the town people and the country folks and they have learned to work together for mutual help and development. This change in sentiment is largely credited to the era of motor vehicle transportation which has practically joined the urban and rural population. The contact seems to have broadened the minds of both elements and brought about a better understanding between them, resulting in co-operative effort that has been helpful all around.

Instead of "knocking" the town and its people the residents of the county now boost their county seat and pull for its progress and advancement. Formerly the country people entertained the idea that the town people were "stuck up" and magnified their importance but freer intercourse and better relations seem to have changed the viewpoint.

It used to be that the line of cleavage between the town and county was particularly distinct when it came to politics and being identified with the "town clique" meant certain reprisals in the rural section. Now, however, the country folks assume a more liberal attitude toward those who live in town as well as their opinions even to politics.

POUNDING THE PORK BARREL

Much fun was poked at the proposal in Congress some years ago, to improve Mud River, in Kentucky, and make it a navigable stream. Now it is the Tradewater River that the Government will survey to determine the feasibility of making it navigable.

The late Proctor Knott, then a Kentucky Congressman, gained a national reputation forty years ago by his satirical references in opposing a waterway improvement at Duluth, Minn., then a hamlet. Mr. Knott facetiously pictured the wonderful progress of Duluth if the harbor improvement was authorized and in his flight of oratory he dubbed the future Duluth as the "Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas."

In "kidding" the unpretentious Duluth of that day, Mr. Knott inadvertently had made a prophecy that came true and Duluth rapidly developed into an important commercial center. The people of Duluth never forgot Mr. Knott. They adopted his facetious reference as the city slogan and to further show their appreciation for the man who unwittingly forecast the greatness of Duluth, they erected a statue in honor of Mr. Knott, that stands in a prominent position.

Proposed improvements of inconsequential streams always have been associated with the "pork barrel" system and every session of Congress is deluged with proposals for converting an ordinary creek into a navigable stream. It is regarded as a feather in the cap of the Congressman that can get the government interested in the project of improving any stream in his district. It makes his constituents feel good. Uncle Sam pays the bill.

Once upon a time, men worshipped the golden calf. Now they look with admiration on the silken calf.
